Chapter One

Foreword

National Immigration Agency (NIA) edits this manual especially for civil air and sea carriers' reference, to help the carriers better understand whether the passenger boarded eligible to enter R.O.C. (Taiwan) and avoid monetary penalty due to passengers without proper entry documents.

According to Paragraph 2, article 47 of the Immigration Act, we forbid the captain of an aircraft or a vessel, or the carrier to use the aircraft, vessel or other means of transport to carry passengers without proper entry documents. And the violator is subject to a monetary penalty of NTD 20,000 to NTD 100,000 per person in accordance with the Immigration Act (see Appendix Three for relative regulation and penalty). Carriers may contact the immigration at the ports of passenger's destination if there are any questions concerning documents explained in this manual (see Appendix Two for contact telephone and fax numbers).

According to different applicable laws, entry passengers to R.O.C. (Taiwan) can basically be divided into four types: R.O.C. Nationals, Hong Kong / Macao residents, Mainland Chinese, and Aliens. For details of relative regulations, please refer to the Immigration Act, Act Governing Relations with Hong Kong and Macao, Act Governing Relations between the People of the Taiwan Area and the Mainland China Area, the Passport Act, and other subordinate laws. In this manual, there will be explanation of documents or requirements for entry / transfer passengers of these four types.

Chapter Two

Entry of R.O.C. (Taiwan) Nationals

R.O.C. (Taiwan) Nationals are divided into National with Household Registration (NHR) and National without Household Registration (NWOHR).

The simplest way to identify whether the passenger is a NHR or a NWOHR is to check his/her R.O.C. (Taiwan) passport. The R.O.C. (Taiwan) passport that a NWOHR holds is without ID number on the bio-data page (see Picture 2 and Picture 8). However, please note that, for the passenger who can provide any identification document with R.O.C. (Taiwan) ID number, such as ID card, Household Certificate, or Household Certificate Transcript, even though the R.O.C. (Taiwan) passport that the passenger holds is with no ID number, he/she will be regarded as a NHR. The relative entry documents and requirements are explained below:

1. Nationals with Household Registration (NHR)

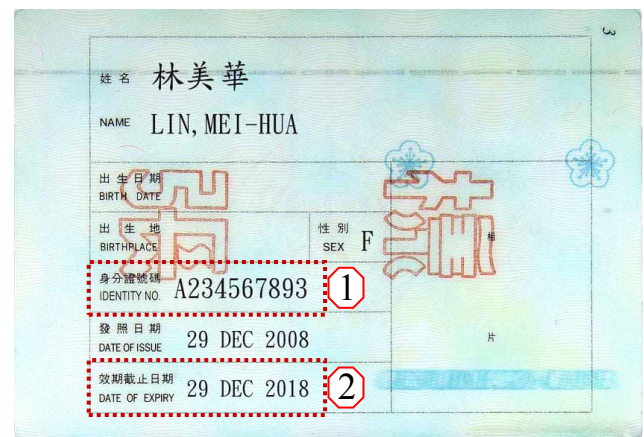

(1) Entry with R.O.C. (Taiwan) passport

NHR only need a valid passport for entry, and no other documents required. The samples of R.O.C. (Taiwan) passports are shown as Picture 1 and Picture 2 below:

Picture 1: Covers of R.O.C. (Taiwan) passports (Diplomatic, Official, and Standard)

Picture 2: Bio-data pages of passports for NHR

Check Points:

- Personal ID number on the bio-data page, as ① in Picture 2.
- The passport should be valid upon entry, as ② in Picture2.

(2) Entry with R.O.C. (Taiwan) passport (No Personal ID number on the bio-data page). If the passenger can provide any identification document with Personal ID numbers, such as R.O.C. (Taiwan) ID card, Household Certificate, Household Certificate Transcript, etc., then he / she will be regarded as a NHR, and can enter with a R.O.C. (Taiwan) passport.

Check Points:

- The passport should be valid upon entry, as ② in Picture 2.
- The passenger has a document with Personal ID numbers, such as R.O.C. (Taiwan) ID card, Household Certificate, Household Certificate Transcript, etc.

(3) Entry with Entry Certificate.

NHR who has lost his/her passport or his/her passport has expired, and not able to renew, should apply for an Entry Certificate at any R.O.C. (Taiwan) overseas missions prior to entry. The sample of the Entry Certificate is shown as Picture 3.

- 2.If the above passenger locates in countries or areas where there are no R.O.C. (Taiwan) overseas missions, he/she cannot obtain Entry Certificate in time. In these cases, the carrier should report to the immigration at any designated port of R.O.C. (Taiwan). Only with the permission can carriers carry those passengers to R.O.C. (Taiwan).

2. Nationals without Household Registration (NWOHR)

The covers of R.O.C. (Taiwan) passports issued to NWOHR are the same as standard R.O.C. (Taiwan) passports. However, the bio-data page of the R.O.C. (Taiwan) passport that NWOHR hold has NO Personal ID number, which is the simplest way to identify NWOHR. A NWOHR passport holder without pairing any documents listed below will be refused entry.

One must enter R.O.C. (Taiwan) with a NWOHR passport pairing with one of the following documents: (1) Entry Permit(入國許可), (2) R.O.C. (Taiwan) Resident Certificate with Entry Permit(臺灣地區居留證 臨人字入國許可), (3) A NWOHR passport can be replaced by a foreign passport, pairing with R.O.C. A NWOHR passport can be replaced by a foreign passport. That is to say, A valid foreign passport with a valid R.O.C. (Taiwan) Resident Certificate(臺灣地區居留證) should be treated as our NWOHR. This kind of passenger should also apply for a Temporary Entry Permit upon arrival.
